Giants linebacker Antonio Pierce played in last season's Pro Bowl and was voted an alternate this season. He is disappointed that the 9-5 Giants had only one player make this year's N.F.C. team.cheap nfl jerseys wholesale

It could be worse: the 10-4 Jaguars and 9-5 Buccaneers had no one make the Pro Bowl rosters,cheap nfl jerseys,cheap mlb jerseys which were announced Tuesday and selected by fans, players and coaches.cheap nfl jerseys wholesale

Pierce offered his insight Thursday on how one player,cheap nfl jerseys wholesaleat least, views the Pro Bowl:cheap nfl jerseys wholesale,basketball jerseys cheap,cheap jerseys com,custom hockey jerseys,nfl jerseys womens

Pierce said. "And two of the games we lost he could have won it by himself, too, if we would have played some defense."cheap nfl jerseys wholesale,basketball jerseys cheap,cheap jerseys com,custom hockey jerseys,nfl jerseys womens

On snubs: Pierce seemed most bothered by the omission of Giants receiver Plaxico Burress, one of six N.F.L. receivers with at least 10 touchdown catches. "All the games we've won – I would say seven out of nine he was probably the reason we won,"

On the criteria: Pierce thinks too much is made of individual statistics. He looks at a team's total defense first, picking players from the best units. The Giants, he pointed out, are second in the N.F.C. in total defense (seventh in the N.F.L.), but had one player — defensive end Osi Umenyiora — selected. "If you're on a losing team you're going to have better stats than everybody else, because you're on the field all the time.

On other deserving teammates: The Giants have three players among the top 10 in sacks in the N.F.C. — defensive ends Umenyiora (12.0), Justin Tuck (10.0) and Michael Strahan (9.0). He marveled at the possibility of three defensive ends with at least 10 sacks each. "I don't know when that's ever happened," he said.

When you're on the field a lot, you have an opportunity to make more tackles. If you have three-and-outs, who knows? Forty plays or 80 plays? You better have 15 sacks."

On Sean Taylor: Pierce is a former teammate of the slain Redskins safety, who became the first player to make the Pro Bowl posthumously. Pierce voted for Taylor, but as a practical matter, not simply an honorary one. "Week 10 or so, he had five interceptions already.

On how teams vote: Most teams take the voting seriously,practrice hockey jersey Pierce said, and even discuss the voting in team meetings. Players will ask defensive linemen about the best offensive linemen, for example. And while the Giants played nine different N.F.C. teams (out of 16 total), he said he voted for players he did not see this season. "You've watched them on film," he said.

I think by the end of the season he probably would have had eight, the way they play the defense over there with him so deep. It's good that he got on." Taylor's five interceptions (in nine games) remain tied for third in the N.F.C.

While watching film in preparation for the next opponent, players are also seeing how other teams — and players — played against the upcoming foe.

Carolina Panthers

61 DT Derek Landri; 95 DE Charles Johnson; 52 LB Jon Beason; 50 LB James Anderson; 30 S Charles Godfrey; 20 CB Chris Gamble

This is 36/37 Power, the Giants' lead play. They ran it on the goal line last Sunday against the Panthers (36 to the right, 37 to the left). They've probably run it more times, for more yards, than any other play in their offense since the current coaching staff took over in 2004.

88 WR Hakeem Nick; 12 WR Steve Smith; kids jerseys,authentic nfl jerseys wholesale,chinese sports jerseys,nfl jerseys uk,cheap china jerseys nfl82 WR Mario Manningham; 66 LT David Diehl; 69 LG Rich Seubert; 60 C Shaun O'Hara; 76 RG Chris Snee; 67 RT Kareem McKenzie; 47 TE Travis Beckum; 10 QB Eli Manning; 44 RB Ahmad

Bradshaw

Remember Tiki Barber's 95-yard run against the Raiders in 2005 or Derrick Ward's 51-yarder against Carolina in overtime in 2008? Both were on 36 Power, although Barber cut his back all the way to the sideline while Ward's hit up into the A gap, between the center and the right guard.

The Giants run this play from any number of formations, with different personnel, with different shifts and motion, in almost every situation, from anywhere on the field, and against any defense: a 3-4, or a 4-3 aligned in an odd or an even front. They get a double team at the point of attack, pull the outside guard to nail the linebacker, and run it downhill.

On Sunday, early in the fourth quarter, with the Giants leading, 24-16, they faced a third-and-goal from the Carolina 4. They lined up in 11 personnel (1 back and 1 tight end) with 3 wide receivers, the quarterback in the shotgun, and Ahmad Bradshaw as the offset back.

The right guard, Chris Snee, and the right tackle, Kareem McKenzie, came off the ball and executed the double-team block on the 3-technique defensive tackle, Derek Landri (the 3-technique lines up on the outside shoulder of the guard). Snee and McKenzie are coached to be hip-to-hip and foot-to-foot so that the tackle can't split the double team. They must take the correct angle so they can drive the defender straight back.

As soon as Snee and McKenzie make contact with the defensive tackle, their eyes shift to the linebacker at the second level. In this case, when they saw the middle linebacker, Beason, try to run under the double team, Snee disengaged and blocked him hard to the inside to prevent any penetration. As usual, Snee, one of the best guards in football, did an excellent job.

The Panthers, anticipating pass, kids jerseys, authentic nfl jerseys wholesale, chinese sports jerseys, nfl jerseys uk, cheap china jerseys nfl were in a 4-2-5 Nickel (5 defensive backs) with Jon Beason at middle linebacker and James Anderson on the outside.

The tight end has a difficult assignment if the defensive end is directly over him or to his inside in a 5-technique (on the outside shoulder of the offensive tackle). Kevin Boss usually does a good job with this block. On Sunday, Carolina's left defensive end, Charles Johnson, lined up in a 9-technique (on the outside shoulder of the tight end). Looking for the pass, Johnson took a hard upfield rush and ran himself out of the play. He made it easy for Travis Beckum.

Mario Manningham made an excellent drive block on the safety, Charles Godfrey, and Ahmad Bradshaw broke the attempted tackle of the one unblocked defender, cornerback Chris Gamble. kids jerseys, authentic nfl jerseys wholesale, chinese sports jerseys, nfl jerseys uk, cheap china jerseys nfl Watching the tape, it doesn't appear as if Gamble was eager to make that tackle.

The left guard, Rich Seubert, pulled across the formation and turned up on the other linebacker, Anderson. He's coached to lead with his right foot and always keep his shoulders square to the line of scrimmage. The square pull is a difficult technique to master, even for veteran offensive linemen.

The Giants run a version of this play every week, usually multiple times. Every opponent knows it's coming. Against the Panthers, they ran a play action pass off it and hit Hakeem Nicks for his third touchdown of the day. Different formation. Different personnel. Different motion. Same play. Carolina's entire front seven took the fake, which gave Nicks plenty of time to get open in the back of the end zone.

That's 36/37 Power. Look for it next week and throughout the season. I hope I haven't succeeded in completely confusing everyone.
